Court Directive Combines Wards One and Two

MACMILLAN IS SCHEDULED FOR MORE DISCUSSIONS WITH KHRUSHCHEV TODAY

By HAROLD K. MULKES

MOSCOW (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev resumed their talks today in an atmosphere heated up by Khrushchev's latest public avowal that the Soviets will not make concessions on West Berlin or German unification.

Macmillan was obviously shaken by Khrushchev's fiery statement to a political meeting in the Kremlin Tuesday while his British guest was away from Moscow. Khrushchev said the Soviet Union sees no point in a Big Four foreign ministers meeting, will not deal with the Western Allies on German unification and still plans to give the East Germans control of Allied supply routes to West Berlin.

Britain Facing A New Threat At Blantyre

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP)—Britain is facing up to a new nationalist threat in Africa—mounting racial unrest in black Nyasaland.

With angry native demonstrations continuing since last Friday, Royal Air Force planes sprayed rock-throwing crowds with tear gas in Lilongwe Tuesday. Members of the King's African Rifles tied on the rioters in the market place and two casualties were reported.

A spokesman for the British colonial government said the demonstrators were scattered by late afternoon, but sporadic shooting continued. The crowd turned ugly after officials prohibited the holding of a nationalist meeting.

It was the first trouble in Lilongwe, capital of Nyasaland's central province. Previous disturbances had been mostly in Blantyre, capital of the southern province.

Main spring of the unrest is Dr. Hastings Banda, president of the Nyasaland African National party. His organization wants to take the protectorate of Nyasaland out of the Central African Federation, a member of the British Commonwealth which also includes self-governing Southern Rhodesia and the protectorate of Northern Rhodesia.

To cope with the swelling movement, Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister, is reported to be planning a visit to the country.

Plea for Green's Acquittal Denied By Federal Judge

By RILL GIBSON

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Federal Judge Frederick V. Follmer today denied a motion of acquittal for U. S. Rep. William J. Green D-Pa. and two others charged with conspiracy to defraud the government.

At the same time, the U. S. District Judge dismissed the charges against another defendant, Robert Brown, Merchantville, N. J. contractor.

Follmer then ordered counsel for Green and the two others to present any defense they wished.

Brown was the fourth defendant among seven originally indicted to be freed by Judge Follmer.

Still on trial with the Philadelphia congressman are John P. Gilbox of Philadelphia, former Scranton engineer who's firm was architect-engineer for construction of the Army Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna, Pa., and Frederick J. Raff, Hartford, Conn., plumbing and heating contractor at Tobyhanna.

They are charged with a conspiracy to cheat the government in connection with construction of the $3-million-dollar depot near Scranton.

Dulles Observes Birthday With Short Wheel Chair Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that John Foster Dulles himself will decide following intensive cancer treatment over a period of weeks whether he is physically able to carry on as secretary of state.

Dulles became 71 years old today. He is undergoing radiation treatment for abdominal glandular cancer at Walter Reed Hospital.

Eisenhower discussed the outlook for his foreign policy chief at a news conference. He said that a point will come between Dulles and himself when a decision will be made about whether Dulles continues in the top ranking Cabinet position.

Eisenhower told the conference not to think it is a matter of Dulles' wanting the job. It is a question instead of Dulles' dedication to the work, Eisenhower said. He added that if a time comes when Dulles cannot be restored to the degree of health necessary to carry on his duties the secretary (Turn to Page Twelve)

Splitting of Unwieldly 5th Creates an Additional 10th Voting Precinct in Borough

A court directive concerning a recent petition to reallocate Wards 1 and 5 in Warren borough appoints a Board of Election in both voting districts to function during the coming election, with new Election Board officials to be nominated May 19 for election in the fall. The court also directs present councilmen in Wards 1, 2 and 5 to continue to represent the present areas until new or re-elected councilmen are duly elected to office.

Recommendations for combining Wards 1 and 2 into a new Ward 1 and splitting unwieldly Ward 5 into a new 5th ward and creating a new 10th ward will change the local primary election somewhat. The new Ward 1 will face the selection of two councilman nominees: one for a two year term and one for a four year term; a Board of Election including Judge of Election, a majority

Jukebox Probers Report Gangster Barons Missing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Chicago gangster barons wanted for questioning in connection with the violence-plagued jukebox-amusement machine rackets are mysteriously missing, Senate investigators said today.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Labor-Management Committee, said his subcommittee servers have tried and failed for nearly a year to catch up with Sam (Mooney) Giancana and Ralph Capone, brother of the late Chicago gang czar, Al Capone. Kennedy has described Giancana as chief gunman for the successors to the old Capone mob.

The committee hopes to wind up by tonight its hearings on allegations that gangsters, in league with some corrupt labor union officials, have imposed a rule of terror on thousands of coin machine operators in Chicago and its suburbs.

As major witnesses for the wind-up session Kennedy listed Hyman Lerner, executive secretary and boss of the Chicago Independent Amusement Assn., and Fred Tom Smith, boss of the coin machine division of Local 134, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Shortway Backers Conferring at Capital

HARRISBURG (AP)—Backers of the proposed Keystone Shortway came here today to question Gov. Lawrence on the outlook for construction of the superhighway across the state between Sharon and Stroudsburg.

C. E. Noyes, Williamsport, executive director of the Keystone Shortway Assn., said eight members of the organization are seeking the governor's views on problems involved in constructing the Shortway.

The delegates also expressed interest in the governor's opinions on proposed construction of other federal interstate highways in Pennsylvania.

Shortway backers said a construction priority schedule announced by former Highways Secretary Lewis M. Stevens favors metropolitan areas over the rest of the state.

Crackdown on Turnpike Speeders Is Planned

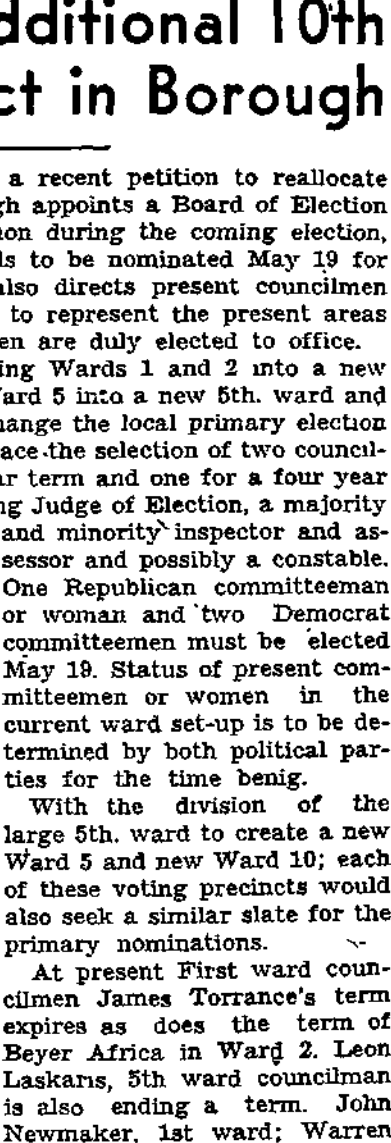

HARRISBURG (AP)—Turnpike speeders beware.

Gov. Lawrence says mere warnings have not been enough and that he has asked the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to issue orders to crack down on speeders to "stop the speed and carnage on the superhighway."

He told his new conference Tuesday that such orders have been transmitted to Joseph J. Lawler, commission vice chairman.

"I told Lawler we have to stop being lenient on the turnpike," Lawrence said.

Lawrence Pleds For Tax Program At P. M. A. Dinner

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gov. David L. Lawrence, the first Democratic governor ever to address the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn., made a plea last night for a 425-million-dollar tax program, including an increase in the 3 per cent sales tax.

"I need your help," he said at the PMA's 50th annual dinner. "I think that all of us have come to a place in the road where we must look around us and make an estimate as to where the old and bitter ways of politics have brought Pennsylvania."

The tax program, featuring a 3 1/2 per cent sales tax, was proposed by the governor's bipartisan Tax Study Commission. Lawrence is expected to make the program the heart of his budget message to the state Legislature next Monday.

Plate Glass Co. Plant Approaching Normal

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. reports it is approaching normal operation of all its facilities following the end of a 134-day strike Feb. 16. A spokesman said Tuesday that all glass furnaces are producing at capacity and that shipments to auto manufacturers resumed last week.

However, he said grinding and polishing operations and fabricating units still are running behind full capacity.

The strike by the United Glass & Ceramic Workers Union idled some 13,000 employees in nine PPG plants, including two each at Ford City and Creighton, Pa., and one each at Cumberland, Md., and Clarksburg, W. Va.

Strike Negotiators Warned by Governor

HENDERSON, N. C. (AP)—Gov. Luther Hodges has warned union and management officials they bear "direct and personal responsibility" to prevent further violence in the bitter Henderson-Harriet Cotton Mill strike.

Negotiators received strongly worded telegrams from the Governor as they prepared to meet again today in an effort to end the 15-week dispute.

He referred to three bombings, stoning and car-tipping incidents, threats against several workers, and an attack on vice president of the Textile Workers Union of America. All have occurred since company President John D. Cooper Jr., reopened the plants Feb. 16.

SOVIET UNION ATTITUDE TOWARD BERLIN SCORED BY IKE IN CONFERENCE

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Soviet Union's attitude regarding Berlin is so illogical it offers little promise for establishment of a just peace.

With much emphasis, Eisenhower told a news conference the United States will not give one single inch in its determination to preserve the rights and responsibilities of the Western Allies with respect to Berlin.

The President expressed his views in commenting on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's cold attitude toward the proposal by the Western powers for a foreign ministers conference on Germany.

A reporter asked Eisenhower for his views on what the newsman termed the Soviet Premier's informal rejection of the Western proposal. The reporter noted it came without prior notice to British Prime Minister Macmillan at the very time Macmillan was in Moscow for discussion of such matters.

Eisenhower called Khrushchev's attitude obviously and palpably intransigent, or unyielding.

The President went on to say the Kremlin leader's position has been well known all along, but that he now seems to be emphasizing it.

As for Khrushchev's blast at the West's proposal for a conference on the Berlin problem, Eisenhower described it as a development which certainly cannot be called a hopeful one.

Then he went on to say that the Soviet Premier's attitude is so illogical that it doesn't promise much for establishment of a just peace.

The President dealt with these other topics:

DULLES — If cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles ever should decide on his own that he is physically unable to continue as secretary of state, then it wouldn't be possible for even the President to keep him in the job.

LOPEZ MATEOS — Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos has accepted Eisenhower's invitation to visit the United States in the spring. Eisenhower was Lopez Mateos' guest for two days of informal talks last week at Acapulco, Mexico.

NON-AGGRESSION PACT — Eisenhower said he sees no great objection to any of the Western allies entering into a nonaggression pact with Russia. But he and Dulles always have felt, Eisenhower went on, that member countries of the United Nations already are bound by such pacts.

SUMMIT CONFERENCE — Eisenhower said he feels it would be a great mistake to go to any summit conference with the Russians unless adequate preparations were made in advance.

NUCLEAR TESTS — Eisenhower spoke out emphatically against writing veto power into any Western agreement with Russia regarding suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

WAGE-PRICE — Eisenhower said it must be kept in mind that the nation's income tax program is based on profits. He said that if profits are worked down to the (Turn to Page Twelve)

School Rebellion Put Down With a Polished Paddle

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The abortive teen-age rebellion at Bartlett High will soon be history, put down by a polished maple paddle swung by Principal John Barnes.

Three more young pupils are on the waiting list for seven whacks. Fourteen have felt the sting thus far. Judge Willard Dixon heartily approves.

The judge, at a conference with seven angry parents in his office Tuesday, rejected demands for assault warrants against Barnes.

Two of the mothers came armed with photographs of their sons' smarting bottoms. The judge, after expert appraisal, said he had acquired worse bottoms himself for less.

The boys needed the whacking, he ruled. He cited a State Supreme Court ruling that teachers have, to a reasonable degree, the disciplinary rights of parents while the child is in their care.

Details of a New Rocket Revealed By Space Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Details of a new rocket, the Little Joe, were made public today. It will be used in the early phase of the Mercury manned satellite project.

Little Joe is similar in name only to the Army's Little John, a long-range artillery rocket familiar to many a G. I. Little Joe's functions will be scientific, not military.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration disclosed that Little Joe will be composed of:

1. A cluster of four Army Sergeant ballistic guided rockets. The Sergeant, 30 feet long, in its military version is the atomic-warhead successor to the 75-mile-range Corporal guided missile. It is produced by Sperry Gyroscope Co., Salt Lake City, Utah. The Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., has a $2,200,000 contract to produce the clustered rockets, known as TX3320 and TX3322, for NASA.
2. A casing, transport vehicles and launcher, to be produced by the missile division of North American Aviation, Inc., Downey, Calif., under a $400,000 contract. 3. Small rockets, called XM95E1, attached to the side of Little Joe to provide assurance that the latter will attain the desired initial acceleration. Thiokol, Inc., Huntsville, has the $110,000 contract for these.

Little Joe will be used; perhaps at Wallops Island, Va., as well as at Cape Canaveral, Fla., to send prototype or sample-model space capsules high into the sky.

NASA said this work would shed light on launching and other problems that might later develop with the manned capsule in the Mercury satellites.

A new feature of the 1959 Agronomy Guide is the inclusion of a new section dealing with the control of the most undesirable lawn weeds. Information included indicates the weed species, its best chemical for its control, the application rate, the best time of application, and other pertinent remarks that will aid in the control program. Control measures are given for such weeds as crabgrass, plantains, pennywort, wild garlic, wild onion, dandelion, chickweed, knotweed, ground ivy, and other. Copies of the 1959 Agronomy Guide can be obtained from the County Agent's office in the Courthouse Annex, Warren.

MATTER STILL PENDING

Proposed sale of the Gifford Building was directed to the Jamestown City Council last evening by members of the Tax Sale Committee. The committee voted, with only the chairman dissenting, to recommend that Council accept a $12,000 bid from United Refinery Corp. for purchase of the property. Action on United's offer had been deferred at a previous committee session. Before the Warren firm goes ahead with its plans to build a filling station on the site, action by both council and the Jamestown Zoning Board of Appeals is necessary.

Warmer and 24 Days to Spring

Sub-zero temperatures throughout the county were met with a sparkling spring-like sun today as the temperature slowly climbed to warmer heights late this morning.

Late winter snow flurries last evening left a quarter of an inch of light snow spread over the section as residents keep their eyes fixed on March 21—first day of spring.

Groundhog's Feb. 2 predictions for continued cold has been successfully fulfilled by the weatherman, contrary to the hopes of the people.

Rains and melting snow past weeks set Allegheny River into a constant changing stage. The stage is down to normal depth with a 4.6 foot reading this morning.

Mild tonight with sunny and warm temperatures. Thursday will make for a nice ending of winter—should it end early (such wishful thinking).

New Addition to Soil Conservation Service Arrives

Announcement is made that Curtis F. Coates is now associated with the local Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture coming from Philadelphia where he worked for the Post Office Department prior to his transfer here.

Mr. Coates graduated from North Carolina A. and T. College, where he majored in agriculture. He also received his commission as second lieutenant in the ROTC, and was called for active duty, spending the next three years with the 82nd Airborne division and then in Germany.

Following his separation from the service, he did some substitute teaching and then was employed in the Post Office Department.

Being trained in agriculture, he transferred to the Soil Conservation Service by way of the Civil Service examination.

Movie Censorship Measure Before The State Senate

HARRISBURG (AP) — Minors would be prohibited from viewing films that might incite them to violence under a new movie censorship bill before the Senate today.

The measure would permit the state to disapprove films considered objectionable. It was introduced Tuesday by Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington).

The State and U. S. Supreme Courts ruled several years ago that the Commonwealth had no authority to censor movies after mandatory viewing. The old law required all films shown in the state to be viewed and approved.

Lane said he thought the change in emphasis from blanket "approval" of movies to "disapproval" of objectionable films would make the law constitutional.

His proposal would make it unlawful to exhibit films to minors under 18 years if the films suggest that crime pays or that use of narcotics "is pleasant, profitable, desirable, harmless or acceptable behavior."

Red Tape Prevents Washington Flight

Traditional governmental red tape has blocked a recently planned flight to Washington tomorrow morning by a group of local representatives concerned with pressuring Washington representatives toward early construction of the Kinzua Dam project, according to a statement issued late yesterday afternoon by County Commissioner Blain Mead.

A number of Warren men determined to see action taken toward flood control in the area had hoped to arrange a meeting with Pennsylvania congressmen and senators to discuss the possibility of speeding up action on the proposed dam, but were advised by Congressman Leon H. Gavin that the Thursday session was closed to public representation.

State representatives from Warren county will, however, be conferring with Gavin and Senator Hugh Scott concerning the project this week.

The local men hope to travel to Washington sometime in March when the Appropriation Committee meets.

Facts on Adoption!

The first of a series of three articles prepared by the Family Service and Children's Aid Society on ADOPTION.

THE CHILD'S NATURAL MOTHER

This series of articles has been prepared in order to acquaint the people of Warren County with the many services given by the Family Service and Children's Aid Society in the field of Adoption.

Many different people are involved when a child is placed for adoption—the child, himself, the adoptive parents, and the natural parents. All of these people have very special needs which require careful consideration. Although the welfare of the child is at all times the most important concern, agencies who place children in adoptive homes must think in terms of all of the people who have a stake in the adoption and not merely of finding a home for an unwanted child.

Most children available for adoption are the result of illegitimate births; therefore, one of the areas that must concern the adoption agency is the unmarried mother. The Family Service and Children's Aid Society is the only fully-approved agency in Warren County with a staff trained to give casework help to these unmarried mothers.

If a single girl discovers that she is pregnant, she may come to the agency for help in planning for the future of her baby and herself. All interviews are strictly private and confidential. She may talk with a trained caseworker who has the necessary experience to help girls with these special problems. All plans are made to best suit her individual needs—there are no set procedures, and the arrangements made are those that the girl prefers. Many times a girl wants to remain at home for her confinement, or proper arrangements can be made by a staff member for her in a maternity hospital out-of-town.

While arrangements are made for physical care, the caseworker and the mother are also planning for the future lives of mother and baby. Such careful thought and consideration are given to the problem of whether or not to keep the child or place it for adoption. In some cases, the mother decides to keep her child, but often the mother decides that adoption placement for her child will be best for the baby and for herself.

Arrangements are then made for the mother to voluntarily relinquish her child to the agency. This is a legal action which makes it possible for the agency then to consent to the adoption of the child. Only agencies approved by the State Department of Welfare may arrange for voluntary relinquishments. These relinquishments are legal protection for all parties to an adoption. The Family Service and Children's Aid Society is the only agency in Warren County approved by the State Department of Welfare that may use this Voluntary Relinquishment provision of the law.

If the natural mother has decided to place her child, she is then immediately freed of responsibility for her child and can begin to make plans of her own, even though the legal adoption of the child has not been completed. The adoptive parents can have peace of mind, for they then have a guarantee that the natural mother will not reverse her decision before the adoption is completed. The child is protected by the assurance of good care until it is placed in an adoptive home.

The Family Service and Children's Aid Society is the only approved private agency in Warren County with trained workers equipped to deal with problems of unmarried mothers. Because these mothers are given all possible help in solving their own personal problems, adoption placements of their children are secure, successful and happy.

The second article in this series considers the adoptive parents and the services and counseling provided to them by the Family Service and Children's Aid Society of Warren County.

50-Year Recognition

Frank M. Roller, one-time local postman and brother of Mrs. Julia Johnston, 239 Pennsylvania avenue, west, was honored recently in New Kensington, when the National Association of Letter Carriers' Local 1139 presented him a golden card signifying 50 years of continuous membership. An illustrated article from The Daily Dispatch in that city reads in part:

"A fierce love of baseball was the reason for bringing a most genial man into this area. His desire to watch the Pittsburgh Pirates play ball was the reason Frank Roller transferred from Warren, Pa., and came to New Kensington as a postal carrier in 1920.

"Active in the National Association of Letter Carriers, he held the post of vice president of the Joint Association of Postal Employees of Western Pennsylvania and was president of Western Pennsylvania District Letter Carriers from 1934 to 1947. He retired from service in the latter year.

"Upon retirement, Roller sought a country residence, one at which he could rest and meditate about his experiences in 38 years as a postal carrier. So, what did he do? He bought the postoffice which was closed at Daronda, Pa., now Allegany Township, and converted it into a neat country residence. "Possessing a photographic memory, Roller can name the person who lived at a street address on any of his routes since he entered the postal service. Roller continues to take an active interest in civic affairs and is a member of the Kiwanis Club and Senior Citizens' Club. "Aside from his interest in baseball, Roller is also an amateur gardener who gives most of his harvest away to his vast legion of friends. Another talent Roller owns is that of a writer, reporting the activities of both the Kiwanis Club and Senior Citizens' Club for The Daily Dispatch."

Analyst Says Haiti May Be Next Major Trouble Spot

Editor's Note: Thomas P. Whitney, Associated Press foreign news analyst, has just returned from one of his frequent visits in Haiti.

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst
NEW YORK (U)—The Negro republic of Haiti may become the next major trouble spot in the Caribbean.

Daniel Fignole, radical leader of the impoverished masses of the Haitian capital Port au Prince, has ordered his followers in a broadcast from Cuba to get ready for a general strike aimed at overthrowing the government of President Francois Duvalier.

Another exiled opposition leader, Louis Dedeo, who has strong influence in the upper class and among women and shopkeepers, has been broadcasting the same message in recent weeks.

Haitians listen to these broadcasts and there is an air of anxiety and expectancy.

Haiti is the ham of the Caribbean sandwich—stuck between two blood enemies, Fidel Castro's new Cuba and Rafael Trujillo's tough dictatorship in the Dominican Republic.

This uncomfortable position combines with a desperate economic crisis, with continuing hatreds among Haitian political factions and with the absence of an efficient government based on popular support, to add up to an unstable situation which could explode at any time.

President Duvalier was voted into office in an army-run election in September 1957 after 10 months of political turmoil following the ouster of strongman President Paul Magloire. Duvalier has virtual dictatorial powers. He gives the impression now of a man of arbitrary temperament with jittery nerves.

In January Duvalier, under the shock of Castro's success in Cuba, attempted to remove the stigma of dictatorship from his regime by freeing all political opponents whom he had jailed, including some sentenced to death. A liberalization of his rule was proclaimed.

But now, in fear of an invasion by his Haitian opponents from Cuba, Duvalier is clamping down hard and uttering dire threats. He has banned all exit visas for Haitians—presumably to hold within the country any who would like to join anti-Duvalier forces.

In firebrand declarations during impromptu speeches he has declared that should his enemies seek to overthrow him he would unleash a total revolution and not leave one stone on another in Port au Prince.

BILLIONS FROM PENNIES

Today marks the 40th birthday anniversary of America's first gasoline tax, reminds an editorial in the Bradford Era.

The "gas tax" idea, it says, was born February 25, 1919, when a "one cent a gallon" levy was enacted by the Oregon legislature. That year three other states followed suit. By 1929 every state had a gasoline tax, and by then the average rate had climbed to 2.8 cents a gallon. In 1932, a federal gasoline tax was added.

In its first year this "penny tax" cost the motorists of four states a little more than $1 million. Now it is costing highway users $4.6 billion a year. Its present national average rate of 8.9 cents a gallon amounts to a 41 percent "sales tax" on gasoline.

In 40 years, motorists have paid $52.8 billion in state and federal gasoline taxes—more than half of this just since 1951. State gas tax receipts, now running to more than $3 billion a year, have more than doubled in the last ten years, with 75 rate increases enacted since World War II.

The federal tax, its rate doubled by two increases enacted since the war, is today costing motorists $1.6 billion a year at 3 cents a gallon. Now there is a move for another increase—the biggest ever — to boost the federal rate to 4½ cents a gallon.

WORLD TODAY

By James Marlow
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Secretary of State John Foster Dulles fights cancer — and the world awaits the outcome — American problems in foreign policy ring the earth.

Dulles is able to read newspapers and magazines and, while it is no doubt comforting to him, it probably also strikes him as ironic that after all the criticism he has drawn in his six years in office, he is now being lavishly praised.

The praise ranges from mild to excessive, including the suggestion that he is indispensable. Looked at coldly the word "indispensable" is a little less than realistic when applied to any man.

If tomorrow Dulles decided he no longer could do his job and resigned, some one would have to take his place. No matter how valuable a secretary has been, this country has long been accustomed to acquiring a new secretary every time a new administration takes office.

True, Dulles has so completely dominated and handled American foreign policy that no one could now just step in and take over without some hitches, strains and delays until he could master what a secretary of state needs to know.

Most of the talk so far about whether or not Dulles will continue in office, or have to retire, seems to be a conversation piece.

It may be some weeks before either Dulles or his doctors can know whether he will be able to resume his job full-time, part-time, or not at all. Meanwhile, there are problems that need continuing attention.

First and foremost: What to do about the Soviet demand that the Allies get their troops out of West Berlin and leave it a free city. Unless handled right, the West's whole position in Germany could crumble.

The West is bracing itself for a showdown on Berlin, perhaps around May 27. As late as Tuesday Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was being tough and shoulders of Dulles who is 71 unyielding, despite Allied proposals for a foreign ministers conference.

ence to talk about it. In the background, always, is the continuing problem of how to cope with Red China's growing strength and its inevitable influence on all Asia where the United States has built up alliances which have hardly been tested yet.

America's relations with its friend, the Philippines, have deteriorated and need fixing. Then there's the task of trying to help India, with its bursting population and extremely low living standards, to improve its economic conditions.

Moving west a bit, there is the still unsolved problem of trying to get along with President Nasser of Egypt and keep him out of the class of communism.

In Iraq, which had been closely tied in with the United States until a revolution destroyed both King Faisal and his regime, the Communists, and through them the Soviet Union have steadily gained influence.

At this moment there seems a genuine puzzle over Iraq — whether or not it may go Communist. If it does, the U.S.S.R. will have gained its first indisputable foothold in the Middle East.

Such an event would call for a complete rearrangement in the thinking of the Arabs and the West. To say it would cause a convulsion in the area seems mild.

Right next door is another American friend, still friendly: Iran. The task here is how to keep it friendly and help it resist Soviet threats and pressure.

Behind the upcoming crisis on Berlin, of course, is the old problem for the United States and its allies of how, in a way satisfactory to them, West and East Germany can be unified.

Tuesday Khrushchev brushed the Western Allies aside, saying the question of reunification could not even be discussed by the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France. He said it is a question for the "two German states themselves."

All these enormous burdens, day Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was being tough and shoulders of Dulles who is 71 unyielding, despite Allied proposals for a foreign ministers conference.

"You Don't See Action Like That Any More These Days"

Here and There

News of an important business change in Warren seventy years ago was carried in the Evening Mirror of February 27, 1889 as follows: "The Western Union Telegraph office will, by recent arrangements, occupy the Exchange block permanently. The company found that the large room, formerly part of the oil exchange, later in use for a restaurant, was peculiarly fitted for its wants. There is plenty of room and the location is a handy one. The railings and partitions of the oil exchange have been taken out of their storing places and fitted into convenient lengths for the telegraphic business. The floor will be neatly carpeted and a partition put across half way down the room. The apartment thus formed in the rear will be furnished with chairs and tables and especially fitted up for the convenience of oil men and speculators, who desire to discuss the markets and the influence the moon's phases has on the mystery. Manager Simpson is confident that such a resort will be appreciated by some of the city's gentlemen of occasionally elegant leisure. They will have a tastefully furnished room to drop into to get the latest quotations on the market; they can fit themselves into the luxurious chairs while speculating on the further rise or booking a prophecy that she will not go higher up. Such an arrangement will doubtless be fully appreciated, and, in a business way, it will certainly tend to help, a condition that for so long a time has been but a theory."

Another item in the same issue that will prove of interest to real old-timers of the area has this to say about a new dwelling on Market street: "The new residence, Queen Ann style, on Market street, which will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Windsor is nearly ready for carpets and furniture. Workmen are now engaged on the finishing touches of graining and paint on the woodwork. The design of this beautiful house of the art medieval was obtained from a New York artist where it took the first prize among hundreds of drawings, at the Academy of Art. The outside materials are of main Madama stone and Buffalo pressed brick. . . . A square north of this site is a new Swiss cottage, nearly completed. This was built for Mr. A. T. Scofield, for the occupancy of himself and his charming bride, nee Miss Kittie Brecht. As Mr. Scofield personally supervised the building of this dwelling, it might not be inappropriate to say it was built by him. Mr. Scofield has an office on the first floor and a large billiard room on the third, facing front. Both buildings were constructed by Henderson and Under; the painting done by Artist N. K. Wendleboe.

Daily Lenten Meditations

From the Upper Room

Read Luke 23:39-45.
He (one of the malefactors) said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom. (Luke 23:42)

A sinful man dying on a cross confessed he was receiving the due reward of his deeds, but his prayer opened paradise for him. The gates could not stay shut to such a sincere plea. In life's ebbing hour, he grasped the glorious promise of eternity. But his spirit and prayer he placed himself and his guilt in the hands of God, and Jesus lifted him to eternal worth. The future held a new world, and redeeming love made that future immediate.

Ralph Waldo Emerson in his Journal noted concerning Nathaniel Hawthorne's funeral: "Clarke in the church said that Hawthorne had done more justice than any other to the shades of life, shown a sympathy with the crime in our nature, and like Jesus, was the friend of sinners."

Jesus is infinitely more than that. Jesus is the Saviour of sinners: plentiful in mercy and pardon, and knowing always what is in man. Human nature at its worst crucified Jesus. On the cross, Jesus showed human nature at its best.

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the Love that will not let us go. Keep us near the cross. Let human need and mankind's sin more and more burden our hearts until we love as He loved. In the name of Thy dear Son who died and rose again. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The cross stands at the center of God's universe and man's need. — Roy Lawson Taves (Delaware) World-Wide Bible Reading—Matthew 13:24-52.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — While British and Russian leaders discuss today in the Kremlin the expansion of trade between their countries, some American businessmen are warning that the Reds already are out to upset U. S. domestic markets and disrupt foreign trade.

Most of the American protests have come from Russian sales of metals on world markets. But some now see the Soviets stepping up their nuisance tactics in other fields.

A current example is the offering here of Communist made laboratory equipment for schools. The state owned Red factories can put any price they like on such items.

Other recent examples are the sale to an American firm of benzene — a byproduct of the petroleum industry which domestic producers have sold here heretofore; and the sale here of Russian bleached sulphite wood pulp used in making quality printing and writing papers.

American companies say the sales have propaganda value and above all nuisance value. The sales can upset markets for a time and put some pressure on American price structures. James J. Ritchie, executive director of the U. S. Pulp Producers Assn., says less than 300 tons of the Russian pulp have come here. But he sees it as part of Soviet plans to wage economic warfare.

Russia has had more dramatic results in the metals markets. She undersold Canada in the British aluminum market. This lead Canadian producers to cut aluminum prices. American companies had to follow suit.

The world tin market was badly disrupted when Russia stepped up its sale of tin to nine times what it had sold in 1956.

Russian sales of zinc and lead also added to the many other troubles of these metals while prices were tumbling. With American mines closing, the U. S. government moved to curb the flow of imports from whatever outside source.

Communist countries also have offered some petroleum products, on world markets in recent months.

The Russians have made no secret of their intent to fight for more world markets and in wage economic warfare. They count on both its propaganda value and on the disadvantage to which it puts privately owned companies.

FATS IN THE DIET

The relationship between food and heart disease has led many persons to eliminate fat from the diet. This is unwise, unless a definite reason exists for doing so. Much that has been written on the subject still is in the realm of speculation. In addition, fats are essential foods; small amounts go a long way toward maintaining normal growth, health, and strength.
Fats are a concentrated source of energy and are valuable in improving the capacity for work. They help the body spare its protein reserves, improve lactation and reproduction, and help protect the skin by covering it with a slightly oily film. Vitamins A and D dissolve in fats and are absorbed by the body in this way.

Pat inhibits the secretions and churning movements of the stomach, delaying the digestion of food and staving off hunger. This is the rationale behind weight reducing diets that are high in fat. The purpose is to suppress appetite. On the other hand, fat adds flavor to food. The most delicious steaks have a high fat content.
These are the reasons why the rigid restriction of fat in the diet is not recommended. The exceptions are the obese and those who have hardening of the arteries or are recovering from a heart attack. They may be told to limit their fat intake in an attempt to lower the amount of cholesterol in the blood.

In such instances, reference is made chiefly to animal fats. Vegetable fats are allowed. Corn, safflower, cottonseed, or peanut oil may be recommended as part of the plan of treatment. Lean meats are permitted but excess fat must be trimmed from roasts and chops. The menus contain less butter, margarine, cheese (except cottage), bacon, and egg yolk. Skim milk is substituted for cream and whole milk.
Many other substances are used to lower blood cholesterol. The list includes nicotinic acid, certain fatty acids, and sterols such as Cytellin. But evidence is increasing that the level of blood cholesterol is related more closely to stress than to diet. If true, we may live longer by cutting down on our excitement rather than on fat in the diet.

TOMORROW: Tired all the time.
BLOOD STREAM INFECTIONS
D. J. writes: What bug causes blood poisoning after an injury?
REPLY
Streptococci and Staphylococci are the most common culprits. Septicemia can be avoided in the majority of instances by cleansing the wound thoroughly with soap and hot water and applying a sterile bandage.

EGGSHELL EATING
M. G. writes: When you eat eggs, should you eat the shells also to increase the calcium intake?
REPLY
No. The calcium in eggshell is not absorbed as readily as is that from other foods, such as milk. This mineral exists in many other foods so that normal persons rarely develop a calcium deficiency.

NECK AND JAW PAIN
C. writes: Could the sleeping position cause pain in the neck and jaw? My teeth are not responsible, as shown by a dental checkup.
REPLY
Yes, especially if distress stems from the muscles or vertebrae of the neck.

PRESCRIPTION LANGUAGE
J. D. A. writes: In what language do physicians write prescriptions?
REPLY
In English, in this country, except for a few abbreviations. But some medicos have such poor penmanship, it looks like Greek and is thought to be Latin.

Public Pulse Tapping Paid Handsomely for Democrats

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—One of the "now it can be told" stories about the last election reveals how Democratic candidates for governor and U. S. senator in 11 states used scientific public opinion polls to shape winning campaign strategies.

In oversimplified summary, the technique was to find out what issues were bothering the voters most and then harp on them in campaign speeches. Issues in which the voters showed least interest were ignored.

In all of the gubernatorial races surveyed and in all but two of the senatorial races on which polls were conducted the Democratic candidates won. In the two states where Democratic senatorial candidates lost—Arizona and Maryland—there were special circumstances which upset the poll predictions in final weeks of the campaign.

THERE WAS NO PUBLICITY about these surveys during the campaign. They were closely guarded secrets.

News about the public opinion surveys comes out now, strangely enough, from Republican sources. When GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn, at the recent Des Moines conference, presented his plan for reorganizing and revitalizing his party, one of his key points was the hiring of a polling service.

Facts about the Democrats' survey use and their success had filtered back to Republican headquarters, probably from Democratic-boasting. Chairman Alcorn and his state chairmen got this information too late to do them any good in the 1958 elections. But they've found out now—the hard way—that if a political party is going to win elections, it must first find out what the voters are thinking.

THIS IS A REVEALING admission of how much the GOP was out of touch with public opinion. It may explain also why President Eisenhower, the day after election, couldn't understand the beating his party had taken. But it shows why the Republicans now want a public pulse service of their own.

The polling service used by Democratic candidates was supplied by Louis Harris and Associates of New York. It ran surveys in Arizona, California, Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Ohio, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Mr. Harris himself got experience as a pollster with the Roper organization. Before that he was a trained political reporter. Political polling is now only a seasonal part of the general research business he conducts. But he has conducted polls for both Republicans and Democrats.

No claim is made that the polling technique is 100 per cent accurate. Some polls are better than others. A survey in Delaware, for instance, is easier to make than one in California.

THE HARRIS POLLS in California were preceded by extensive analysis of election returns for the past eight years. Then a cross section of northern, central and southern voters was made at the precinct level.

By careful preparation of this kind, by using trained pollsters and by careful interpretation of the results, the Harris organization made its surveys on the basis of 750 to 1,500 interviews per state. Such polls can be made for from $6,000 to $10,000 apiece.

Republicans charge now that the polls made for the Democrats last year were paid for by AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education. COPE denies this. The Harris organization says its polls were made by contract with the candidates.

Variety Promised in High School Concert

The 1959 Winter Concert of Warren High School A Cappella Choir will be presented Thursday evening in Beauty Junior High School auditorium, under the direction of Carroll A. Fowler.

Included in this pleasantly anticipated program will be choral selections, with orchestral accompaniment by high school musicians; a group of negro spirituals; scrambled opera group by choir members; cello solos performed by Karen Ericsson, accompanied at the piano by Patty Hudock; and a presentation of Waring's arrangement of The Nutcracker Suite, with piano accompaniment by Susan Warner and Linda Dasher.

In this group will be Judy Hutchens and Donna Jones, sopranos; Sally DeLong and Martha Peed, altos; Rodney Betts and Mark Peterson, basses; Addison Scholes, Jr., and William Sedwick, tenors.

Their selections will include: My Bonnie Lass, She Smileth by Bottomly; April Is In Her Lovely Face, by Morley; and When Allen Adale Went A-Hunting, by Pearsall.

Tickets are available from any member of the choir.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND PARTY SUCCESSFUL

The WEA-PTA Scholarship Fund committee, reporting on the dessert-card party held February 19 in Beauty Junior High School cafeteria, indicates an attendance of approximately 25 persons and possible clearance of about $200 towards the 1959 goal of $1,000. In addition to individual table prizes, special awards were received by Mrs. Gaston N. Hamilton and James Francis.

Taste of Mother's Cooking Can Linger for Many Years

"I bake bread every week," says a busy mother, "because I want my children to remember the fragrance of loaves of bread browning in the oven and the wonderful treat of homemade bread sliced when it is still warm enough to melt butter."

I don't think she is wasting her time. All of us who are old enough to remember the days before ready-mixes and frozen foods can close our eyes and recall certain scenes vividly.

We can recall the delicious aroma of vegetable soup that had been simmering on the back of the stove half a cold winter's day; the fun of watching a three-layer cake, started from scratch and finished off with thick icing; the companionship of helping shell peas or snap beans; the fragrance of doughnuts browning in deep, bubbling fat; the anticipation that came from turning a freezer filled with homemade strawberry ice cream.

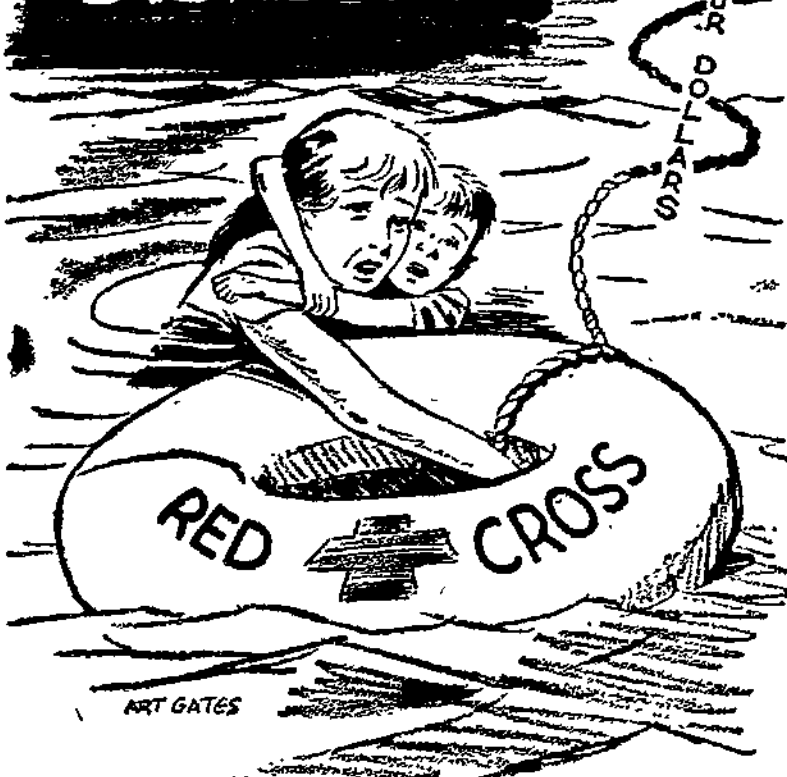

Today's easy cooking makes life simple for Mama. She can, if she hurries, leave the supermarket at 5:30 and have a meal on the table a little after 6. And the food is good and nourishing to the body.

But there's nothing that comes out of a frozen food package, a can or a box of ready-mix to stir a child's imagination. There's nothing to whet his anticipation in food that is labeled "heat and serve" or "brown and serve."

So unless a mother realizes this fact and takes the trouble to do a little old-fashioned cooking for her family, her children are missing a lot.

Students Named for Edinboro Production

Appearing in the April 16, 17 and 18 production of Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" at Edinboro State Teachers' College will be three local students.

Clare Erickson, daughter of Luther A. Erickson, 308 West Fifth avenue, Emmajan Hammon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hammon, Russell R. D. 1; Richard Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith, 30 North State street, North Warren.

Miss Erickson is playing a part which is being kept secret and will not be revealed until the opening; Miss Hammon is appearing both as a refugee and a convenor; Mr. Smith has been cast as an usher and a convenor, and is also in charge of publicity for the production.

The play is being produced by the Edinboro Collegiate Players and will be given in the College auditorium under the direction of L. C. Vincent.

Warren College Club Plans Open Meeting

Warren Association of College Women will hold an open meeting next Thursday, March 5, in the Y-Town Room of the YWCA activities building. The gathering will be convened at 8:00 p. m. with Leona Moulton Nelson as special guest for the evening.

Mrs. Nelson is an accomplished entertainer, giving a unique presentation of the wealth of material she has condensed from current Broadway shows. She is so laden with personality that her hour-long talk seems all too brief. She has lived in many parts of the world — Europe, South America, the Dutch East Indies.

She has studied both voice and dramatics; has had several years of experience with Fox Films, San Francisco Opera Company, and radio work, when she embarked on the types of entertainment which makes her tops in attractiveness for club programs.

Her home is Bronxville, N. Y., and, as well as being in great demand for programs in the east, she returns annually to the Pacific coast at the request of many clubs.

Mrs. John H. Huey is chairman of the evening, with Mrs. Harold T. Bright, head of the following hostess committee: Mrs. H. L. Bosthart, Miss Adm. M. Coe, Miss Hazel Finley, Miss Meade Hinderliter, Mrs. Lyle G. Knapp, Miss Harriette Rogers, Mrs. Jean Steele, Mrs. Benjamin Randell, Mrs. Grace B. Siegfried, Mrs. Harold W. Thomas, Mrs. Robert Wilder, Miss Marian Steeman.

Mr. Sauter will leave March 6 for Greenfield, Mass., where he will be vice resident in charge of production at a new plant, which will manufacture glass to metal seals.

His many friends wish him the best of success in the future.

Radio and TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — The Old Vic Company presented a superb television version of "Hamlet" on CBS-TV Tuesday night.

An excellent adaptation by producer-director Ralph Nelson and Michael Bentall, director of the Old Vic, offered the main elements of William Shakespeare's four-hour tragedy in 75 minutes. They chose to make "Hamlet" a swiftly paced action drama in 19th century court style.

The "Dupont Show of the Month" production did not linger over rhetoric. It suggested the meanings of character that have beguiled readers and theatergoers for centuries. Limited in its playing time, it necessarily sacrificed depth of meaning to intensity of action.

One result, in the opinion of one viewer who saw the company's Broadway production, was that John Neville as Hamlet came off better on television than on the stage. Neville in the role of Hamlet lacks the emotional depth of a John Gielgud. But in the decision to play the tragedy on TV as a fast drama of sinister intrigue, there was little time for profundity.

Barbara Jefford was too mature for the role of Ophelia. Oliver Neville as Claudius, Margaret Courtenay as Gertrude, John Humphrey as Laertes and Joseph O'Connor as Polonius were capable but not distinguished.

However, as a result of brilliant direction and a beautiful production in all-white sets the players proved to be less important than the play itself.

At Fifty: A Beauty All Her Own

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The notion that a woman can be beautiful past 50 is one that many women will pooh-pooh. These are the women who spend hours in front of a television set or at the movies, admiring the beauty of the latest movie star.

They yearn for beauty, too, but are afraid to admit it openly. They also are afraid that people will think they're trying to be kittenish or young. Actually, there's no need to be. Beauty at 50 carries its own dignity and has nothing to do with the uncertainties of 20.

And an important part of this beauty is the way a woman regards herself. The woman who puts about the house in a shapeless dress and curlers because "nobody cares how she looks anyway" has forgotten that there is one person who should care all her life: herself.

A dash of lipstick, a hairbrush and a neat dress would work wonders. So would conscientious skin care, thought in selecting clothes, and some exercise every single day. Remember that you really are "the lady of the house."

Teen-agers who skin their hair back into pony tails are asking for hair trouble in the future. It's a simple hairdo, true, and not much trouble. But because it strains the hair back from the face, it also tends to thin out the hair in that area.

And the teens are a time when a girl shouldn't pick a hairdo because it's easy to do or even because everybody else is wearing it. Have a sweater just like your girl friend's if you must, but don't become her twin in every respect. What's dashing on one girl can be disastrous on another.

The movie stars whom you admire learned early to develop their own particular types. Had they gone about copying each other endlessly, few of them would have stayed at the top. A short and fluffy hairdo is every bit as easy to keep as the pony tail and far prettier.

When the directions on your jar of face cream say that it should be massaged gently into the skin, follow the directions faithfully. But make sure that the movements you use are light and always upward and outward. Downward movements can cause muscles to sag and do far more harm than good.

Be very careful of that thin-skinned area around the eyes. A dot of cream on the tip of your little finger is quite enough here.

CUBAN BLOODBATH

(Part II)

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of three stories on the activities of police and other agents who operated under the Batista regime in Cuba, both before and during the Castro revolution. Some of this information was reported by the Associated Press last April; some other aspects became known in the wake of Batista's flight into exile.

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
HAVANA (AP)—About a year ago a Havana lawyer obtained a writ for the release of a man held by the national police on a charge of terrorism. He waited at the appointed place and time for the prisoner.

An auto bearing official license plates drove up. The lifeless body of his client was pushed out onto the pavement. An impeccably dressed man in his 40s, mustachioed and pleasant of visage, stepped out. He was the national police chief, Maj. Esteban Ventura. He told the lawyer:

"Here is your habeas corpus." Apocryphal as that may sound, Cubans familiar with the well-dressed policeman consider the story an understatement on his cruelty.

Maj. Ventura once worked as a butcher. Leaders of the Castro regime call him Fulgencio Batista's chief executioner. They view him as the drum major in a procession of violence that, by Fidel Castro's estimate, killed 20,000 Cubans.

The revolutionary government is seeking his extradition as a refugee from justice. He fled to the Dominican Republic when the Batista regime collapsed Jan. 1.

Ventura ran a tough police force that sat as judge and jury at the 5th and 9th police precincts in Havana.

Supplementing his activities were those of the dreaded SIM agents. SIM, the Military Investigation Service, operated a house of horror at the Bureau of Investigation. Prisoners brought to these places readily confessed to revolutionary activities. Many did not live to repudiate these confessions.

Ventura's chief chamber of operations was the 5th precinct station on Havana's East Side. Political prisoners and others suspected of rebel sympathies were brought to this filthy, dark basement. It has five 10x12 bare cells, with small double-barred windows, and one smaller windowless cell. All lack beds, faucets or drains. The walls are marked with stains which Castro investigators ascribe to the force of bullwhips or other leather weapons.

Prisoners were dumped into this basement through three rectangular openings, which also serve as drains, in a street level patio. Agents entered the basement through a secret circular stairway.

This is the story told by Israel Hernandez, 26, a guard at the 5th precinct station.

"Several nights a week Ventura's agents, dressed as peasants, would arrive by auto. They would bring torture weapons to the cellar through the secret entry.

"We never saw them on the main floor of the building. Soon we would hear muffled screams and cracks of the bullwhips. Nobody upstairs said anything. We all pretended not to hear. Neighbors who could hear never complained. It would have been foolish.

"Later on duty downstairs we could see for ourselves what had been going on."

Agents also worked over suspects in streets and homes. One case was summarized at the recent trial of several policemen:

The policemen broke down the door at 171 Continental St. last April. They yanked two students from bed, stood them facing a wall and shot them. Their money and an automobile were taken. Next day the police took away the furniture and sold it to a second hand dealer.

Even the sacrosanct sphere of the Havana Bar Assn. did not escape the wrath of Ventura's police force.

The minutes of a meeting Feb. 18, 1953, show that the association unanimously agreed to petition the government to call new elections because it considered the existing regime "a factor of discord and disorder."

CIRCUMNAVIGATOR
Capt. Joshua Slocum sailed the first ship to circumnavigate the globe with a one-man crew. Leaving Boston in a 36-foot sloop on Apr. 24, 1895, he returned to Massachusetts on July 3, 1898.

Encampment Planning Grand Lodge Visitation

ter, chief patriarch, will be in charge of the regular lodge session. Officers for the next term will be nominated and other important business transacted, with opportunity for a friendly visit with the Grand Encampment officers.

All members of the local organization are asked to be on hand for both the dinner and the meeting to follow.

A beginner would have no trouble making five hearts. He would win the opening spade lead, in either hand, draw trumps with two leads and eventually lose one spade and one diamond.

A top expert would also make five hearts but he would do a little worrying about it. He would be afraid to play two rounds of trumps until he could get ready to trump out two of his own diamonds. Trumps could break three-one and in that case some unkind defender might pull that third round of trumps and leave declarer with an extra diamond loser.

So the top expert would win the spade lead in dummy and then play the ace and another trick and then draw trumps with perfect safety since he would have the diamond ruffs set up.

The actual declarer only made four odd. He knew enough about the danger of a three-one trump break to postpone playing two rounds of trumps but he made the mistake of playing the king of hearts from dummy at trick two.

Now, when he played the second diamond East overtook his partner's jack with the king and led a third diamond which West ruffed with the queen.

Field Filling Up For the N.C.A.A. Championships

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
St. Mary's (Calif.) and Louisville are packaged for delivery and Miami of Ohio is about to tie the knot today as the field fills for the NCAA basketball championships.
St. Mary's—the West Coast's successor to once-mighty San Francisco—nailed an NCAA berth Tuesday night by clinching the West Coast A.C. title with a 58-57 overtime victory over runner-up College of the Pacific. Louisville, the fast improving Southern Independent, was selected as an at-large entry.
Unless a playoff is required, Miami of Ohio is set as the representative of the Mid-American Conference after rolling its record to 9-1 in league play with an 84-71 whipping of Ohio U.
Bowling Green, the only team with a chance to tie Miami for the Mid-American title, lost its two regular season games to the Redskins. In any event, Miami can remove even this doubt by winning one of its two remaining conference tests—the next against Kent State on Saturday.

After Five Years Webb and Boyd Will Meet Again

CHICAGO (AP)—After five years, Spider Webb and his Chicago rival, Bobby Boyd, will get together in the same ring tonight. Both are ranking middleweight contenders, Webb holding the No. 3 spot and Boyd No. 7.
The 10-rounder in Chicago Stadium will be televised—ABC, 10 p.m. EST—and scored under the five-point must system.
The bout will be the first promotion of National Boxing Enterprises, Inc., formerly the Chicago branch of the court-dissolved International Boxing Club.
Webb, 27, is a 9-7 favorite. In 1954, he knocked out Boyd in the sixth round of a preliminary bout. Boyd, 27, once was the No. 1 contender with an eight-bout winning streak against some of the best middleweights in the business. But then he was taken apart by Joey Giardello, who broke Boyd's jaw while pummeling him in a fifth round knockout in 1956.
Webb, former Idaho state and Olympic boxer, has stopped his last two opponents—Terry Downes in London, England, and Giardello in San Francisco. However he lost a 10-round decision to Gene Fullmer, now the No. 2 challenger last September, in Salt Lake City.

Manager of Boyd Is Killed in Brawl

CHICAGO (AP)—Sedgwick Harvey, 48, a trainer for Bobby Boyd, one of the country's ranking middleweight boxers, was fatally shot Tuesday night during a family quarrel in his home.
Police said Thurman Brooks, 47, step-father of Harvey's wife, Carlisle, 34, admitted shooting Harvey twice "for pushing my wife around." The Brooks and Harvey families, who are Negroes, live in the same South Side apartment.
Boyd, ranked seventh among the middleweights, meets Spider Webb, ranked No. 4, also of Chicago, in a nationally televised 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium tonight. Both are Negroes.
Police said Brooks' wife, Ann, 55, told them Harvey had bruised her arm Monday night. She did not elaborate. Brooks was held for further questioning.

FIGURE SKATING

Seven couples from four countries, including three strong United States teams, will attempt to wrest the title from the two-time champion Canadian pair, Robert Paul and Barbara Wagner.

Knicks Well on Way to Clinching Second Position
By The Associated Press
The New York Knickerbockers, who were given about a 50-50 chance of gaining the National Basketball Assn. playoffs in pre-season estimates, today were well on their way toward clinching second place in the Eastern Division.
The Knicks Tuesday night beat the Boston Celtics 134-122 in the windup of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader after the Syracuse Nats were upset by the Cincinnati Royals 113-109 in the opener.
Now, any combination of New York victories or Syracuse defeats totaling three will give the Knickerbockers second place.
Richie Guerin scored 37 points for the Knickerbockers. Bob Cousy was high for the Celtics with 33.
Syracuse made up a 17 point deficit, deadlocking the game at 88-88 early in the fourth quarter after trailing by 40-23 in the first minute of the second period. Jack Twyman wound up with 29 points. George Yardley was the Nats' top man with 26.

Methodists Clash, Grace Wins 41-38

After winning first half laurels and missing winning shots in their last game, Clarendon Methodist five lost their initial second half contest last evening.
Grace Methodist swished in to spank Clarendon 41-38 on the Grace court in senior division of the Church cage loop.
Judy Lobdell, regular starter on the Clarendon quintet, underwent emergency appendectomy in Warren General late Tuesday morning. He is coming along nicely.
Grace's victory was sparked by Neilson's 15 points and Branch's 14. Haslet sank 7 for the winners. Elder 5. For Clarendon, Henry meshed 15 to take scoring honors. Lane dialed 13. Brian had 7 and Albaugh 3.
Thursday on their home court Grace M. E. opposes Holy Redeemer. First Baptist will host Clarendon, both games at 8 p.m.

Champion Miler Is 21 Years Old Today

MELBOURNE (AP)—World champion miler Herb Elliott was 21 years old today and said he planned to spend tonight studying Latin.
It's a compulsory subject at Cambridge University, England which he hopes to attend after the 1960 Rome Olympics.
"I'll celebrate my coming of age with Anne when she has her 21st birthday in June," he said. "We will be married by then too."
Elliott plans to marry Anne Dudley, Perth beautician.

Mickey Mantle Is Still Sweating Out His Contract

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mickey Mantle misses the opening of spring training for the first time today as he sweats out a contract dispute with the world's champion New York Yankees.
The power man of the Yankees, who wants more money—reportedly he is seeking $75,000 a season—will sign countless autographs for the kids who flock to his new bowling alley. But he isn't about to put his signature on a Yankee contract until he gets $3,000 more than New York reportedly is offering him.
Or is he?
Mantle didn't say he would retreat from his stand but he did say "I've got to play baseball." He added that "I don't know if I'll be playing for the Yankees or not. They could trade me."
But it sounded a little hollow for Mantle, who has played with the mighty Yankees for eight years, to talk about being traded.
The Yankees start training in St. Petersburg, Fla., today, but Mickey said he planned no calls to officials of the club and would "just sit and wait and see what happens."

Skiers Compete This Weekend in Winter Olympics

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—The world's top cross country skiers, racers who speed uphill as well as down, compete this weekend in the North American Nordic Championships, a 1960 winter Olympic preview.
Such a race in Finland, Norway or Sweden could draw 100,000 or more fans.
Maybe 50 or 75 spectators may show up Saturday.
This first race goes over 30-kilometers (18.4 miles) on a narrow winding course that's one-third up, one-third down and one-third level.
To make certain the courses meet Olympic standards, Sweden sent its world champions Sixteen Jernberg and Per-Erik Larsson. Norway is represented by Hallgeir Brenden, a two-time Olympic gold medal winner, Finland by Velko Hakulinen and Kalevi Hämäläinen, both world champs, and Russia by Nikolai Ankin, tops in his country.

Braves Reported As Handicapped At Second Base

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The National League champion Milwaukee Braves are right back where they were two years ago when they had a performer of top caliber at every position except second base.
With Red Schoendienst hospitalized with tuberculosis and their spring training camp open for business, the Braves reportedly are sending out smoke signals.
Prime targets, according to Southland scuttlebutt, are John Temple of Cincinnati and Jim Junior Gilliam of Los Angeles. Both are second basemen in good standing.
Gabe Paul, Cincinnati's general manager, is expected to confer with Milwaukee officials soon. The Reds would like to land Don McMahon, the Braves' bullpen ace, who is still back home in Lancaster, Ohio, moaning about his 1959 contract.
Because the batteries are charged up early in training, most of the news from the camps had to do with pitchers and catchers.

Pastrano Says Joe Erskine Is Sadly Overrated

LONDON (AP)—Welshman Joe Erskine may be considered no more than third best among Britain's heavyweights, but he's No. 1 to America's Willie Pastrano.
"Erskine is sadly underrated," Pastrano said today as the aftermath to his loss to the 25-year-old Welsh fighter in Tuesday night's 10-rounder at Wembley Stadium.
"He is undoubtedly the finest you have," said Willie. "He is a very difficult man to beat."
Pastrano hasn't fought Henry Cooper, the British champion, but he was stopped on cuts in five rounds by Brian London, the second-ranking Englishman, in his first fight here five months ago.
"There's hardly any comparison," said Willie, who now stands to lose his rating as the sixth contender to world champion Floyd Patterson's title.
Neither Pastrano nor trainer Angelo Dundee had any alibis over the loss to Erskine.

Prepared by Pennsylvania Game Commission
Officers Graduate
Student officers of Game Commission presently are in training and will graduate during 1959 National Wildlife week.
These men will have successfully completed the prescribed 9 months course in wildlife management under direction of Donald E. Miller, Superintendent of the Commission school, and assistant Calvin A. Hooper. Ceremonies will take place in auditorium of the new Joint High School at Brookway March 21 at 11 a. m.
Newly commissioned Game Protectors will receive their field assignments on that date. Their assumption of duties will help to fill vacancies in Commission's field force.
Public is invited to attend graduation ceremonies.
Inquisitive Fox Killed
A fox "caused considerable excitement in Harrisburg last week. Residents on North Front street called police when they observed an odd-colored fox exploring back yards.
A patrolman shot and killed the animal to protect humans, just to be on the safe side in case it was rabid. It turned out to be a fox pup—probably an escapee from a fox ranch.
Rabbit Population Falloff
Rabbit population in Pennsylvania is below average this winter.
This follows the usual pattern. When cottontails are below average numbers in areas where they may be hunted a corresponding low occurs also in localities closed to hunters.
Obvious conclusion from these experiences is that hunting is not the responsible factor for the lower numbers of cottontails or for the annual and/or periodic fluctuations common to cottontails. When these periodic fluctuations occur at regular intervals, the phenomenon is termed cyclic. The grouse cycle is probably best known.
Sportsmen and hunters should recognize that the factors responsible for the annual or long term fluctuations are not controllable by man. These factors are found in Nature. Man can control some conditions which influence the crop of rabbits—food and cover primarily. However, even under ideal conditions (which never exist) the annual and periodic fluctuations caused by factors not under man's control would be manifest.
When Nature and the rabbits are ready, they will rebound. Meanwhile man's wisest course is to provide the best possible food and cover conditions for good crops of rabbits.
Way of the Hunter
Under the above title, Tennessee State Game and Fish Commission published the following to explain to non-hunters what motivates a person to go afield with sporting arms:
"The urge to hunt often is incomprehensible to the uninitiated. Some people cannot understand why many men and women enjoy undergoing hardships, often in bad weather, to pursue wild creatures.
"There are many reasons for the popularity of hunting. Some people hunt because of an inherent desire to pit wits against the natural speed and cunning of wild birds and mammals. Others go afield to watch trained dogs work, to enjoy 'roughing it' in the outdoors or to secure unusual types of food. A few people may only seek meat but, considering time and money involved, these gunners probably would do better to visit a market.
"An intangible but inestimable value of hunting, however, is in the recreational aspect which offsets the ill effects of fast-paced living. If over-exercision is avoided, time spent in quiet woods and fields is a refreshing change from humdrum life. Such adventures offer a tonic to soothe frayed nerves, sending the hunter home happier and healthier even though he may be wet and tired."

College Coach Orders Team Off the Floor

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A college basketball coach ordered his team off the floor in protest Tuesday night following two foul calls against his son.
Delaware State College was ahead 66-55 with 6:59 remaining in the game when the coach, Don Kennedy, of St. Peter's College, Jersey City, N. J., called his team from the floor.
A personal foul had been called against Dan Jr., the captain of the St. Peter's squad, and the younger Kennedy hotly contested the call in strong language.
Then the referee, Percy Van Pelt, called a technical foul against the player and at that point his father called it quits.

Top-Rated Quint On Runways at A. B. C. Tourney

ST. LOUIS (A)—The first of the nation's top-rated quintets will take a crack at the 56th American Bowling Congress team championship tonight.

Another strong team on today's schedule is Bowlerama Lanes, also of Detroit. The only change in the standings of the tournament Tuesday came as Fraser Trophies of Kansas City, Mo., moved into ninth place in the open team division with 2931.

SPARKLING SEASON PREDICTED FOR MORAN

Penn State coach Chick Werner predicts a brilliant outdoor season for Penn State track ace Ed Moran, a former Kane High student. "Moran has looked so impressive during the indoor season," Werner says, "that if we could arrange our outdoor schedule so that he could run the 440, half-mile, mile and two-mile, I'm certain he would set new school records in each." In indoor dual action this far this winter, the James City senior set an Army field house record for the 1,000-yard run with a 2:10 time, and a Navy field house one-mile mark with a clocking of 4:23.2.

St. Marys Flying Dutchmen won Allegheny Mountain League laurels last evening and Sheffield Wolverines dropped their second consecutive game to a relatively not-so-dangerous squad.

The AML games played last evening were the last in loop action. Sheffield's encounter also served as their last of the season.

Ridgway pulled an upset win over Wolverines, 45-41 Tuesday night. Friday, Smethport upset Sheffield, 59-55.

The Dutch will be back in action next Tuesday for the start of District Nine Class B championship. Norm Sundstrom's cagers are scheduled at Brockway against Reynoldsville, Jefferson County kings. Also on the same night Union Joint and Karns City clash at Kittanning with the winner meeting St. Marys-Reynoldsville winner March 6. Should St. Marys win the game will be played at Punxsutawney.

Defending titlists, Port Allegany, over which Sheffield scored an upset recently, were the victims of St. Marys.

Sheffield held the lead, 26-24 at halftime, but weren't able to maintain their possession of the bulge in second half. Elfers started bombing away in third quarter to take the spurt ahead by 4 points. The Wolverines knotted things up in final stanza.

Lee Hall resumed individual scoring honors for the Wolverines last evening, pushing 11 through the hoop. Lee was the lone Orange and Black cager hitting in double figures. Dan Petchel sank 9. Travney and Zimmerman paced Ridgway with 11 and 10.

Season slate for Sheffield shows a 2-game deficit. The Wolverines dropped 10 of their battles, capturing honors in 8. One big game to their credit was a whipping upset over St. Marys 67-56 Jan. 9, dropping another to the champs earlier this month. Rival Younsville Eagles, Upper Allegheny Valley champs, lost to Sheffield 52-48 in December, winning again later in the month.

In the St. Marys-Port contest, the Dutch had to fight back from a 13-9 Port first quarter lead. At the half, they crept ahead 21-19. Whitman bucketed 19 for St. Marys, R. Renwick 12. Turner bombed in 13 for Port Allegany, Gregg 10.

Minard led Emporium to their victory over Johnsontown with 14. Saunders sank 12 for the losers.

Otto-Eldred and Smethport battled in two leagues with one game last evening. The Otto won game last evening. The Otto standing in AML and a runner-up spot in North Tier Class B loop, led by Port Allegany.

It was Sanberg's 17 tallies and Wirtz' 16 that took Otto scoring honors. Acker, a big boy under the basket, did his usual job of supreme scoring with 30 points—62.5 per cent!

Pirate Manager Is Pleased With Trade
FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh says Don Hoak, Smoky Burgess and Harvey Haddix have added more balance to the team.

The three were recently acquired by the Pirates for Frank Thomas in a trade with Cincinnati.

"You look at the records for last season and you'll see that our strength was in pitching and good defense," Murtaugh said Tuesday. "We have improved that with Hoak playing third and adding Haddix to our pitching staff."

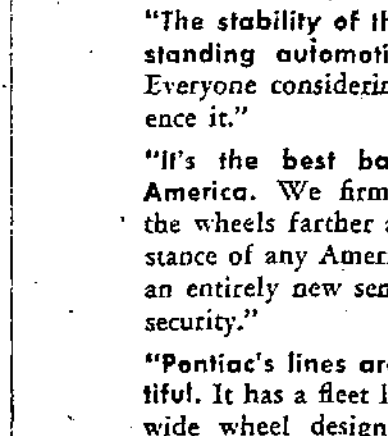

Murtaugh also expects Hoak and Burgess to make up some of the hitting power that was lost in the Thomas trade. Thomas hit 35 homers last season.

Matter of FACT

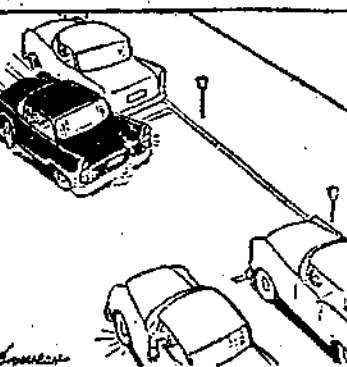

The flags of four nations have flown over the territory of Louisiana since it was claimed in 1802 by Rene Robert Cavalier, Sieur de la Salle, and his followers, for France. A secret pact in 1762 gave the area to Spain. On Nov. 30, 1803, it was given back to France and for 20 days was French territory again. Napoleon, fearing he would be unable to hold it against English attack sold it to the U.S. for 15 million dollars. During the War Between the States the Confederate flag flew there.

Often in crowded districts the driver following you does not know you are going to park, the Chicago Motor Club points out, so be sure to signal him.

Don't forget that when backing into a parking place, the left front fender of your car will jut into the adjoining traffic lane. Wait for an opening before starting the rearward swing.

PONTIAC NAMED CAR OF THE YEAR

"Pontiac with wide-track wheels is the best combination of ride... handling... performance and styling of any '59 car" —The Editors of Motor Trend Magazine

In making its annual automotive award, the staff of Motor Trend Magazine, leading automotive publication, tests and evaluates all new cars. Here are quotations from the April 1959 issue:

"The stability of the 1959 Pontiac is the outstanding automotive advance of the year. Everyone considering a new car should experience it."

"It's the best balanced passenger car in America. We firmly believe that in moving the wheels farther apart, to develop the widest stance of any American car, Pontiac has created an entirely new sense of balance and handling security."

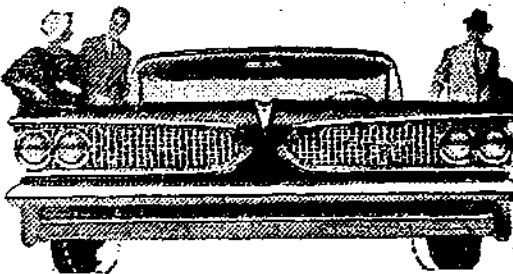

"Pontiac's lines are clean, simple and beautiful. It has a fleet look, a trim appearance. The wide wheel design contributes greatly to its over-all integrated styling. Any comparison with narrower track cars readily shows the difference."

"For the economy-minded, an efficient new engine. The new 420E Tempest economy engine offers remarkable performance along with exceptionally high mileage while operating on regular grade gasoline."

"Pontiac is again tops in performance, based on our extensive road testing. Acceleration is outstanding, yet the engine is unusually quiet and smooth."

Your nearest Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you road-test this award-winning automobile on your own. You'll see why it's the year's most talked-about car!

THE ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS

Wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens only the stance, not the car. Pontiac takes a better grip on the road, hugs tighter on curves and corners. Sway and lean disappear, ride is smoother, balanced, steadier. Handling is easier. You drive with a new confidence, a comforting security. Pontiac gives you roadability no "narrow gauge" car can offer.

FREE! If you would like a reprint of the complete, illustrated article with all the tests and evaluations on which Motor Trend judged Pontiac "Car of the Year"—see your Pontiac dealer or simply send your name and address on a postcard to Pontiac Motor Division, Department 10, Pontiac, Michigan.

ill let the President know.

Dulles will make that decision himself, Eisenhower said. He added that will be shortly after intensive treatment is finished and Dulles has an opportunity to get some rest.

That trip: about 300 feet in a wheel chair from his room in Walter Reed Army Hospital to an X-ray room to receive radiation treatment for cancer.

President Eisenhower may visit his ailing secretary of state during the day and members of the Dulles family were sure to drop in.

But the kind of family celebration which has marked most of his birth anniversaries will be missing.

Dulles began the radiation treatments last Friday after a hernia operation a week earlier had shown a recurrence of cancer. The X-ray treatments will go on for another three weeks or so.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said Tuesday "there are no signs of adverse reaction at this stage" to the increasingly heavy doses of X-ray which Dulles has been given.

But he added that what progress Dulles is making probably will not be known until the end of the radiation therapy.

Dulles himself was reported in good spirits and taking an interest in world affairs. Apart from his talks with the President, he has been in daily touch by telephone with people in the State Department, and has kept up with newspaper and radio news accounts of current developments.

Bomb Scare Empties Ellwood City Theatre

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa. (AP)—A bomb scare forced police to evacuate 115 persons from the Majestic Theatre in this Lawrence County town Tuesday night.

The bomb scare was the second here in the past three weeks. In both instances, an unidentified man telephoned police to say a bomb had been planted. Three weeks ago the caller said the Sons of Italy Club would be bombed.

Police searched the theatre after its evacuation. Nearby streets were blocked off and two restaurants near the theatre also were evacuated.

Andy Biondi is part owner of the theatre. He also is the top officer of the Sons of Italy Club.

Mother in Wheel Chair Saves Life of Daughter

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A mother confined to a wheel chair 11 years by polio was credited today with saving the life of her 12-year-old daughter whose pajamas caught fire.

The girl, Marilyn McElroy, was reported in serious condition at Allegheny General Hospital with second and third degree burns.

Her mother, Mrs. Ethel McElroy, smothered the flames with a blanket and summoned aid. Mrs. McElroy said Marilyn was ill with a cold and was preparing to go to a doctor when she apparently got too close to the open flame of a gas heater.

Bill Favors Repeal of Penn's Business Taxes

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two Pennsylvania business taxes would be repealed under legislation introduced in the House by a Blair County Republican.

Rep. Charles A. Auker sponsored two bills Tuesday that would abolish the capital stock excise and corporate loan taxes.

Former Gov. Leader's Tax Advisory Committee in 1956 described the excise tax as "actually a penalty payment." It produces about 3½ million dollars a biennium. The corporate loan tax yields about 1½ millions a biennium.

POLITICS — Eisenhower refused to be drawn out regarding any preference he may have on a GOP presidential nominee in 1960.

A reporter recalled that Eisenhower said recently that he could name 10 or a dozen viable possibilities for the GOP nomination.

DEFENSE SPENDING — With a show of anger, Eisenhower said he believes he is better qualified to decide the nation's defense needs than any of those who have been criticizing the administration's program in that field.

JOHNSON-Rayburn—Asked why he has been having private talks with two Democratic congressional chiefs, Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Eisenhower replied with a smile that one reason is he and they all happen to be Texans.

INTERNAL SECURITY — Eisenhower remarked he is not enough of a lawyer to comment on the American Bar Assn.'s call on Congress to plug loopholes in the nation's internal security laws.

MACMILLAN—There have been indications, Eisenhower said, that British Prime Minister Macmillan might want to come to Washington to report on his Moscow talks with Khrushchev. But nothing definite has developed on that.

TRADE — The United States can't continue to increase costs of its products and have adequate foreign trade, Eisenhower said. He said the emphasis should be on cutting costs and trying to liberalize trade, and added it would be a great mistake if we attempted to hike tariffs.

Interesting Report on Life With Paraguay's Strongman

Editors Note: — Alfredo Stroessner rules as the lonely strongman of Paraguay, the last dictator in South America. Associated Press correspondent Jose Maria Orlando after a visit to Asuncion, gives this report of life in the country.

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—South America's only remaining dictator, Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay, is fighting a war of nerves led by a youthful Roman Catholic priest.

Stroessner's land-locked country of 1½ million people is a land of fear and suspicion, gradually becoming more isolated in a continent where dictatorships have gone out of style.

Thousands of refugee Paraguayans are openly plotting Stroessner's overthrow.

One of the best known revolutionaries is the Rev. Ramon Talavera, 35, who says, "Some church leaders might disapprove of what I am doing, but in fighting injustice and tyranny I'm within God's principles."

The priest came to Uruguay last November after being expelled for openly preaching against Stroessner's strongman rule. Proclaiming a "National Liberation Front," he has appealed to other refugee Paraguayans here and in Argentina to join his crusade against the 44-year-old dictator.

Father Talavera, son of a wealthy rancher, says his revolt was born while serving as a chaplain in a Paraguayan jail where political prisoners were kept.

"I saw men beat up, or with the burns of an electric wire expertly used."

The Stroessner government has accused the priest of Communist leanings but he insists: "I'm not a Communist. I'm as Christian as are most of the Paraguayan people. In our Christian hearts, there is no place for an atheist doctrine like communism."

Stroessner, son of a German settler and a Paraguayan mother, rose to power five years ago at the head of a military coup.

The old cobbled streets of his capital—Asuncion—clatter in the daytime.

But when night falls, the streets are deserted—shrouded in fear and suspicion.

At no time does anyone publicly say anything against the government. Even foreign diplomats glance over their shoulders while discussing the regime.

Opposition factions look to the outside for help in overthrowing the regime—spurred by the anti-dictator campaigns in Cuba and Venezuela.

Urge Tightening Laws Designed To Curb Communists

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Bar Assn. says Congress should tighten laws designed principally to curb Communism.

Voting approval Tuesday of a committee report which made such a recommendation, the ABA's ruling House of Delegates noted officially that some recent Supreme Court decisions dealing with Communist activity and internal security "have been severely criticized and deemed unsound by many responsible authorities."

In general, the report asks Congress to take another look at some recent Supreme Court decisions and amend the questioned laws to remove any doubts as to the intent of the legislators. Any proposals to limit the Supreme Court's jurisdiction are opposed.

But the report noted that differences over some court rulings "have given rise not only to severe criticism of the decisions, but unfortunately to condemnation of the court itself. It advocates a clear definition of the powers of the House Committee on un-American American Activities."

In a stormy session ending the 246-member House's two-day session, Lloyd Wright of Los Angeles, former ABA president, led the fight to delay a vote on the report until the annual ABA meetings in Miami in August.

"We owe the people of this country enough to tell them what the Communists are doing," Wright said. "Isn't it time we told the court to read the laws and stop writing ideological opinions?"

Reds Exhibiting Rocket Chambers Made for Dogs

By GUSTAV SVENSSON

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is showing some of the rocket chambers they say were used to carry dogs aloft for short, pioneering flights into space.

The rocket exhibits at the Industrial Achievement Fair include payloads that the Soviets say have carried dogs some 250 miles into space and brought them back to earth again by parachute.

One rocket, called the A3 lifted a chamber that weighed up to 2.2 tons and carried two dogs, they said.

Officials at the fair declined to specify the fuel used. The Soviet Union claimed that the A3 set an altitude record of more than 280 miles on Feb. 21, 1958, better than any other one-stage rocket used in the International Geophysical Year program.

A1 and A2 nose cones from the IGY program also were displayed.

Officials said each rocket in the three A-models usually carried two dogs and scientific instruments. Some of the dogs have had pups since their space trips, the officials reported.

Other pavilions are devoted to Soviet atomic energy and efforts to harness hydrogen power.

Congressional Nit-Wits Is Debated by House Members

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Are there nit-wits in the House of Representatives? House members debated that question, then left it unanswered after a brief but spirited discussion Tuesday on the House floor.

The debate was broken up after at least one member insisted that more of his colleagues be on hand if such a controversial matter were to be discussed.

"I think the folks ought to hear it," commented Rep. Clare Hoffman R-Mich.

Hoffman objected to such a weighty debate without the presence of a quorum-218 members. Speaker Sam Rayburn D-Tex counted only about 20 and then rammed through a motion to adjourn rather than summon the absentees. There was no other business anyway.

The adjournment ended a three-way debate among Reps. Henry Reuss D-Wis., Gardner Withrow R-Wis and Wayne Hays D-Ohio.

It involved a speech Withrow made recently to the Congress of the Dominican Republic. Withrow was quoted as having told the Dominican legislators "we sometimes elect" nit-wits to the United States Congress.

Reuss didn't like any of the speech. Hays took umbrage at the reference to nit-wits in Congress. He told the House he had first considered objecting to reprinting the Withrow speech in the Congressional Record. However, the sharp-tongued Ohioan added, after reading the entire speech he was inclined to believe that Withrow had proved his point.

Withrow denied having referred to colleagues as nit-wits. Confronted with what Hays said was an official transcript. Withrow retorted that there was no official transcript made.

In his own time, Withrow said, he would make his own defense of his speech to the Dominicans. Hays said he hoped Withrow would. Reuss said he, too, hoped the debate would be resumed.

Gripping About Husband? Try Listing His Merits

Is the average wife too critical of her husband? A male reader claims that if men went around talking about their wives' faults as much as women do about their husbands' shortcomings the men would be considered cads.

There's at least some truth in what he says. Even a columnist gets far more letters from wives complaining about their husbands than praising them.

Maybe it would be a good idea for every wife to make a list now and then under the heading "What I like best about my husband." Never mind what he does wrong. What does he do right? Whether the list is long or short, just acknowledging his good qualities ought to start a wife thinking along the right lines.

While a wife is thinking about what's right with her husband she isn't brooding about the ways in which she would like to change him.

And if she thinks about his good qualities now and then, she might even be tempted to let him know that she appreciates them. Then instead of telling him "I wish you wouldn't..." or "You never do..." she might surprise him with an occasional sentence beginning, "You're so good about..." or "I'm glad you..."

And once his wife begins to praise instead of to criticize, even a far-from-perfect husband might try a little harder to please his wife and even to comment on the things she does well, instead of the things she neglects to do.

Health Official Approves Unit; $90,000 Grant

Niece of Boris Karloff Ordered To Institution

Gordon E. Stone, of the Federal Department of Health, is recommending payment of approximately $90,000 of the Federal allotment on Warren's sewage disposal plant.

Stone, coming from his New York City office, inspected the unit Tuesday afternoon with officials. When approval of the work so far completed was received from Stone, the grant from Federal fund will be forwarded.

Borough Manager George Geraci said today that another small payment, between $3,000 and $4,000 will be made when the work on the plant is fully completed and another inspection made.

Last June congressional approval was given for $250,000 in federal funds to be used as part of the costs for the municipal disposal unit, costing nearly $1,125,000. September 1957, Floyd Clinger, Warren Sanitary Authority secretary, announced that he had received a $136,000 check from the government, partial portion of the $250,000 grant.

Throwing the unit into partial operation Dec. 31, the Authority received $16,000 in state aid.

Ohio Association Deplores Lack of Control Projects

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio Valley Improvement Assn. says 20 million dollars worth of damage could have been averted in the Ohio valley during the January-February floods if flood control projects which have been authorized had been completed.

An OVIA analysis of the flood, compiled from figures provided by the Ohio River Corps of U. S. Engineers, said the floods caused 112 million dollars in damages in the Ohio Valley and that existing flood control and protection works saved another 120 million dollars.

It listed several authorized projects, however, which would have further reduced the damage if they had been completed.

The flood damage caused the OVIA to hike its recommendations for appropriations for some of the projects.

The analysis, broken down by projects, included:

The Allegheny Reservoir in Pennsylvania, if it had been completed, would have freed the upper valley from flooding at Warren, Pa., and other Upper Allegheny River areas.

The Shenango River reservoir, above Sharon, Pa., would have completely prevented damage to Sharon and would have prevented at least $6,750,000 damage in other areas.

The West Branch Mahoning Reservoir would virtually have eliminated flooding at Warren, Ohio, and prevented damage of $3,870,000 in that area in addition to reducing stages in the lower Beaver and Ohio River districts.

The proposed appropriation for the start of construction work on the Shenango Reservoir was increased from $200,000 to $500,000 and the OVIA recommended the appropriation for the West Branch Mahoning reservoir be $525,000 instead of $225,000 as originally suggested.

These Pieces Carry a Modest Price Tag

Young furs, packing lots of fashion into a small price tag, are designed for girls who have a liking for furs and a limited amount to spend. The little jacket (left) in bottle green rabbit, is priced under $100. It's a John Weitz design, cut with double-breasted front and handsome oblong buttons. Black-and-white fox is worked by Luis Estevez into a dramatic stole (center). It's as practical as it is beautiful since it can be worn with slim or bouffant dresses. Jeanne Campbell does a snuglet (right) in Canadian Lynx cut on the bias. It can be worn daytime or evening, making it doubly useful in a young wardrobe.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Working on the theory that furs should be fun to wear, a group of young New York designers has turned out a whole collection of furs for younger women. The price tags are youthful, too, and that's one of the strong points of the collection.

These designers talked to girls who worked in offices and department stores. They found that, just like all women, these girls wanted to own a "little something in fur." But the furs they admired were beyond their pocketbooks. They are girls who have a real flair for clothes and who follow new fashions with great interest.

This pointed up the fact that furs have been reserved largely for those with a well-lined purse. While concentrating on mink, chinchilla and sable, furriers had, by and large, passed up the less expensive furs: squirrel, American broadtail, Persian lamb, rabbit, lynx, hair seal, raccoon, spotted cat, mouton, pony and muskrat.

The designers were already well-known for their young and dashing clothes. The group, which includes Jeanne Campbell, Donald Brooks, John Weitz, Luis Estevez, Jeanne Carr and Eloise Curtis, lent their talents to designing furs aimed at the teenager, the college girl, the career girl and the young marrieds. They've come up with a whole collection of furs priced to sell under $500, done in high-fashion colors, in off-beat furs, sometimes with knit trimming and unusual closings.

These are not conventional furs with the "mink approach." Many of them can be worn over a wool daytime dress, a theater dress, an evening dress. They're intended to serve a triple purpose in a young wardrobe.

SAFE DRIVING TIP

Regulate your driving speed according to road and weather conditions. Extra caution must be used when icy spots prevail.

Often, after a winter storm has passed or even in early spring, icy spots remain in sheltered places. The Chicago Motor Club warns that motorists should be prepared to encounter slippery sections of road under viaducts, on bridges, and in other shaded spots.

If you should skid on ice, don't slam on the brakes. Turn your front wheels in the direction your rear wheels are skidding. This will tend to keep the rear end of the car from whipping around as you ease the brakes on and off to stop.

No Arms or Legs From Birth

They Paint New Horizons—the Hard Way

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

NEA Staff Correspondent

STRASBOURG, France — (NEA) — Marie Daisy was born 40-odd years ago without arms or legs.

This is a tragedy that might destroy most parents and eventually the child. Fortunately for Marie, her parents were of strong Normandy stock.

They gave her an education, and encouraged her to develop a talent to fill the long, lonely hours. That talent was painting. Now Marie has several awards to her credit—for paintings she creates by holding a brush between her head and her shoulder.

The story of Marie Daisy is perhaps the most extraordinary of those you hear at the Association of Handicapped Artists, which has its headquarters in Strasbourg, France's ancient city on the Rhine River.

Handicapped by a birth defect, or an accident or illness later in life, none of its students paints in the orthodox way with their hands. They all paint with their mouths or their feet.

Every oil or water color represents an incredible effort of will power, and is testimony to an inexhaustible fund of patience.

Few of the members of this unusual "academy" can be called great artists. But all bear in mind the example of Renoir, the French impressionist crippled with arthritis who painted masterpieces with his brush strapped to his hand.

Successful professionally are

35-year-old Madeleine Jars and German-born Arnulf Stegman. Both paint with their mouths.

When Madeleine, the daughter of a civil servant, was born the doctors soon realized that not only would she never have the use of her arms and legs but that she also was unable to talk.

Thanks to the love and patience of her mother, Madeleine learned to read at an early age. Her memory was prodigious. The next step was to learn to write. Gripping a pencil between her teeth she would spend hours duplicating three or four letters of the alphabet. When at last she had mastered the two R's, she graduated to painting.

Her father invented a series of instruments which made it easier for her to mix her paints and hold her brushes. She needs from four to six weeks to turn out a small painting, working several hours a day.

Arnulf Stegman lost the use of his arms after contracting polio as a child. Now in his late forties, his works are exhibited in many countries. He also was the star pupil of the Munich School of Art, in Germany.

In Strasbourg these personalities in the world of painting continue to create beauty with their crippled resources, and to find meaning to a life that could have been a reservoir of despair.

4-H Girls Show How To Use Dairy Foods

Making delectable cheese dishes and nutritious custards is easy for three Pennsylvania 4-H girls. With equal ease they can show how it's done.

Award-winning demonstrators in the 1958 state 4-H Dairy Foods Demonstration program were Barbara Fisher, 14, of Landenberg, winning individual; and teammates Nancy Cowden, 17, and Eleanor Herriott, 20, both of McDonald.

The Carnation Company presented each girl with an engraved 19-jewel wrist watch.

"Make Friends with Sour Cream," said Miss Fisher, a five-year member of the Landenberg Home Ec. 4-H Club, in her prize-winning demonstration. She also is known at 4-H Round-ups for her blue-ward cooking and clothing projects.

"Party Puffs and Their Variations in the Menu" was the title of the team demonstration by Miss Cowden and Miss Herriott. Both girls have been members of the Hickory 4-H Club for seven years.

At Washington County Fairs, Miss Cowden has won several blue awards in clothing and cooking. Miss Herriott has served as a junior leader of the Hickory 4-H Clothing Club for three consecutive years.

This 4-H program is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

AN ILL WIND—"It isn't the cold, it's the humidity" might well become a standard saying about wintry weather to match that old heat-humidity cliché for summer. For, according to the U.S. Army Medical Service, a brisk wind can make a cold day really frigid. Table above is based on the Army's wind-temperature chart. A little practice with it will aid in making the outlook on a winter day even bleaker. For example, a forecast of 35 degrees (Fahrenheit) and 20-mile-an-hour winds add up to the equivalent of 38 degrees below zero as far as exposed portions of the anatomy are concerned (the same as being in a windless deep freeze at that temperature.)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why is there no movie to observe the 150th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth? The question is asked by Wayne Allen of the Journal and Register in Abe's home town, Springfield, Ill. One reason is that producers are a methodical lot. Because a Lincoln film has never been a success, they reason one never could be. One of the notable failures was D. W. Griffith's "Abraham Lincoln" with Walter Huston. It did so poorly in 1930 that Griffith never produced another film. Alfred Hitchcock says that films about Lincoln and other history book greats cannot succeed because the public can't conceive of them doing the ordinary everyday things that human beings do. Can "Rio Bravo" break the jinx against Western pictures? Showmen figure if it can't, no movie can. No Western since "Gunfight at OK Corral" has been a success at the box office. One reason would appear obvious: the glut of cowboys and gunfighters on TV. The cast of "Rio Bravo" seems to be the best success insurance in recent memory. The picture has Rocky Nelson for the teenagers Dean Martin for the young sophisticates John Wayne for the mature audience, Walter Brennan for the oldsters and the sub-teen fans of TV's "The Real McCoys." Plus two other hot TV stars, Ward Bond of "Wagon Train" and John Russell of "The Lawman."

Besides it's a crackerjack Western. If it doesn't rate box office bravos, the horse opera will suffer an eclipse on the big screen. Marquee of the Encino Theater reads like a short story: "Some Came Running" — "To Catch a Thief."

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—"I hate people who wake up in the morning and know what they'll think and say all day," said Ben Hecht. Hecht, who will be 65 this Saturday, has spent a prodigiously creative lifetime lighting firecrackers under the hypocrisies and foibles of his time. Ben looks like an aging Kewpie doll, or a raffish Buddha. His blue eyes twinkle as he verbally skewers mankind's eternal follies. He still has the air of a small boy playing a secret prank on everybody. "I never achieved a real goal in life," he said cheerfully, "not even a haircut." "My chief goal was to remain 18, never to grow up or grow old. I missed that goal." But this onetime Chicago newspaper reporter has managed to turn out 65 movies, 25 books, 20 plays, 250 short stories and at least 300 magazine articles. A one-man fiction factory, Ben has two books on the presses now. Ben, using a pencil and a lap board, writes every day and turns out about 5,000 words a week, as he has nearly every week for more than 40 years.

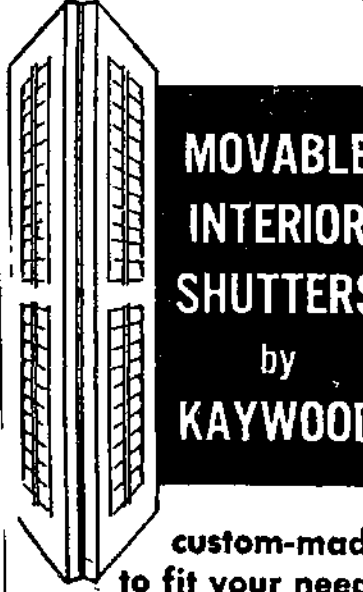

Here is Hecht in his own words: "I hate idleness—it gives me suicidal moods—and I hate ideas. Ideas turn men into monsters and causes turn them into scoundrels. If you siphon ideas out of their heads, people are more human." "I'd like to see politics abolished. Politics is as bad for the spirit as war is for the body." "I like spirited people who dislike bosses. I've always figured that whoever hired me was my immediate enemy. That made me a fortune in Hollywood. The harder you hated a boss out there the more he paid you." "Everybody's a kibitzer. There is too much conformity. People are afraid to be individuals." "The future of the human race, if it has one, should be good. Some tremendous leader will have to appear, but I don't see him anywhere." "He may have to be a religious leader. It takes religion to relate a human being to himself, to God, and to life."

"But the only religion I'll join is one which asks me to love myself and love my neighbor. That religion has gone sour, but it is the only one that can save the world." "Who is God? God is a human being, as far as I can see. We have forgotten that man has divinity in him."

Famed Hunter Stops Here

When you see a car with Alaskan license plates stop in service station, naturally you go over and take a closer look. And if you meet the driver, so much the better. Driver of the car happened to be Cecil Rhodes, man who hunts with a camera, who last week presented a program of wildlife pictures in Beaty auditorium. Chatting with him, we discovered he had similar presentations coming up in surrounding communities; he would be in St. Marys on the 27th, and Ridgway the 28th. He has a wife and 16-month-old boy living at Vernon, Texas, while he is on the road with his show. The fish he is holding is a king salmon caught with light tackle.
